

Center for Northern Studies

Fall 2001 Student Workshops

10:00AM, Saturday, November 10

Student Workshop in Archaeology

Please join us as we enjoy presentations from CNS students and faculty, students and faculty from Brooklyn College and Hunter College, both part of CUNY, as well as some local Vermont archaeologists.

9:30AM, Sunday, November 11

Mushroom Discussion and Walk

The Center for Northern Studies is pleased to welcome our good friend Lawrence Millman for a hands-on mushroom discussion! Explorer-writer Millman has made over 25 trips to the Arctic and Sub-arctic and has written 10 books, including Last Places, Northern Latitudes, and - scheduled for next year - Looking for Henry Hudson. In addition to his extensive experiences in northern regions, Millman is a mycologist and will lead interested participants on a Sunday morning mushroom foray!

9:30AM, Monday, November 12

Traditional Cree Skills Discussion

Please join us as Cree elders David and Anna Bosum share experiences that provide an extraordinary window on a way of life very few First Nations people of Canada now pursue. From Ouje-Bougomous, Québec, a community built in 1989 as a result of the James Bay Settlement, David and Anna spend much of the year living the traditional bush lifestyle, leading trips into remote areas of northern Québec, and sharing their knowledge and skills with others.